

APR 22 1956

Approved For Release 2001/03/02 : CIA-RDP70-00058R000100
S. 104,943Front
PageEdit
PageOther
Page

Date:

APR 22 1956

Joe Fades Away

ALLEN DULLES, head of the CIA, is our authority for saying the Stalin pictures gradually are disappearing in Moscow—it's his job to know.

Moreover, he's learned about an ingenious way the Russians have of filling the space formerly occupied by enormous Stalin portraits.

At the Red Army Theater, he says, they've simply hung up a huge mirror to replace Stalin. Consequently, any ambitious leader now can see himself in Stalin's old spot. This may be symbolic.

CPYRGHT